KICKOFF – Finnish Universities of Applied Sciences Acting Against Racism!

Welcome to the kickoff seminar of the VARAVA project!

Sean Ricks, a seasoned journalist from Yle, will act as the host and facilitate the important discussion of institutional racism in this online event.

Save the date and meet the experts. 18.3.2022, klo: 12.30-14.30

Speakers of the event

- Angela Browne, a diversity, equity and inclusion expert sharing the situation of institutional racism in the UK
- Amina Mohamed, a Laurea University of Applied Sciences 2021 alumni and entrepreneur
- Daniel Kalejaiye, an internet police and senior constable
- Samuli Maxenius, an expert from the Rectors' Conference of Finnish Universities of Applied Sciences

This event welcomes all students, teachers, and stakeholders in the university of applied sciences sector. VARAVA project is founded to enhance inclusive practices in the universities of applied sciences. The purpose of the project is to uncover systemic racism, develop inclusive services for all and pilot antiracist learning methods.
